Spiders & More Surprises

Thursday, July 11
10:00 a.m. – Noon
AND
Wednesday, July 24
10:00 a.m. – Noon

Jumping, hunting, weaving, and spinning—Midwest spiders and arachnids rule the world of the unseen. They are beneficial and valuable, even precious, and life without them would be unbearable. Their services are indispensable.

Prairie Mammals

Wednesday, July 17
10:00 a.m. – Noon
AND
Wednesday, July 31
10:00 a.m. – Noon

Amber and violet waves of nutritious and beneficial plants support some of the most unusual, diverse, and regal mammals on the planet. We'll investigate the natural history of these animals, as well as our pioneer history reflected in their names and legends. Come learn about their impact on mankind throughout history to the present day.

Citizen Science

Banders from the Missouri River Bird Observatory (MRBO) gently net, identify, record vital statistics, and uniquely band captured birds before giving visitors the opportunity to release them! Come and go as you like during the three-hour program.
